Job's Daughters Install Officers With Ceremony

In a beautiful garden setting at Masonic Temple Saturday evening, Miss Shirley Guttenfelder was installed as Honored Queen of Job's Daughters, Torrance Bethel No. 50. One of the dramatic highlights of the evening was a candlelighting ceremony at the beginning of the rites when Miss Guttenfelder, followed by her senior and junior princesses, Lois Jayne Allen and Margaret Mort, and the celestial choir entered the darkened Bethel, proceeded to the east and illuminated the cross. "Ave Marie" sung by Miss Harriet Pegors provided a fitting background for the ceremony.

O. A. Kresse, as master of ceremonies gave the address of welcome to the more than 200 present. The guardian and associate guardian, Mrs. Edith Wertalla and Alfred E. Kerber, were then escorted to the east.

Installing officers, beautifully gowned in pastel silks, were: the Misses Jayne Johnston, guide; Shirley Johnson, marshal; Doris Kresse, chaplain; Marian Spehger, recorder; Muriel Alverson, senior custodian; Mary Ann Bradford, junior custodian, and Mrs. Hilda Findley, musician. Little Janet Beeman and Robert Hopkins served as jewel bearers. Miss Vivian Wertalla, retiring honored queen, wearing yellow chiffon and carrying purple and yellow flowers was escorted.

The escort of the Bible and flag by Misses Doris Kresse and Shirley Johnson was followed by the regular installation ceremonies. Preceding the installation, Miss Pegors and Glen Hall sang. In addition to the senior and junior princesses elective officers were Marilyn Meyer, guide, and Beverly Whitney, marshal.

Appointive officers who will serve during the ensuing term are Margaret Schultz, chaplain; Enid Weis, recorder; Pat Whitney, treasurer; Norma Levy, musician; Doris Armitage, librarian; Virginia Hall, senior custodian; Barbara Watson, inner guard; Irene Findley, outer guard; Marjorie Chambers, Barbara Lock, Dorothy Sandstrom, Harriet Pegors, and Nadine Paour, messengers. Ushers were Walter Smith, Robert Leech and Jim Post.
